Heart Attack Is Fatal To Albert Hentsch

Stalled Auto Struck By Wabash Train

Robert Paulson of Harvey, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fink of New Lenox, had a narrow escape from injury if not death, when his auto which had stalled on the Wabash railroad crossing three miles south of New Lenox on the Manhattan road was struck by a train. Mr. Paulson had time enough to get out of the car and out of harm's way. There were two reports on the accident, one being that a wheel had come off the auto just as it reached the crossing and the other report was that the car had run off the crossing and become stalled. It is understood the car was insured.

FOX HUNT SUNDAY

The Green Garden Sportsman's club will conduct a fox hunt Sunday, December 9. They will meet at the Green Garden Town Hall at 12:30. Everyone is welcome and only shot guns will be used.

The fox hunt conducted by the same group last Sunday saw two foxes but got away due to the lack of enough men to corner them. It is hoped this Sunday there will be a larger attendance.

LEAVING FOR ENGLAND

Mrs. A. E. Waltman of Palos Park returned to her home Wednesday from New York where she had taken her husband who left on the Queen Mary last Friday. He landed at New Castle, England Tuesday, going as a consultant engineer of the Clearing Machine Corporation. Mrs. Waltman and son and her mother Mrs. Thyra Basler will go to New Castle, England in the spring. They expect to remain in that country for several years.

While in England Mrs. Waltman expects to make a visit to her sister's and other relatives in Sweden.

PURE MILK ANNUAL MEETING

The Pure Milk Association of Will County will hold their annual meeting in the parlors of St. John Evangelical church, in Mokena Friday evening Dec. 14. A dinner will be served previous to the meeting.

"KING OF KINGS" TO BE SHOWN IN ST. PETERS CHURCH

The Youth Fellowship of St. Peters Evangelical and Reformed church in Frankfort will sponsor the showing of the picture, "Kings of Kings" Sunday evening Dec. 16 in the church.

MOKENA RESTAURANT UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

Morry's Restaurant in Mokena which was operated for a few weeks by Mrs. Effie Homerding, was taken over by Mrs. Philip Provic Sunday. The business has been given a most liberal patronage and Mrs. Provic is highly pleased with the fine support given the venture.

MOKENA BOARD PASSES ANNEXATION ORDINANCE

The Mokena Village Board at their meeting Tuesday evening passed and approved an ordinance annexing 20 acres of the former Mokena mineral Spring farm into the corporate limits of Mokena.

BLOW FIRE SIREN ONLY ONCE A WEEK

The fire siren on the Mokena water tower which used to be blown at noon each day except Sunday, is now being blown once a week on Saturday noon.

With the installation of the new automatic water pump at the village pumping station, the work of Martin Muehler general handy man at the village hall, his salary has been cut from $40 to $20 a month. He is to be given 25c for each water meter he reads in addition to his monthly salary.

Gas heaters have also been installed in the fire headquarters and by removing one of the cell blocks and a section of wall enough space has been made to allow two fire trucks to be housed in the same quarters. The old coal furnace was discarded as it was beyond repair.

BAZAAR AND BAKE SALE

Ann Rutledge school of Lincoln Estates, Frankfort will hold a Bazaar and Bake sale at O'Connors Bldg. on Lincoln Highway between 78th and 79th, Saturday, December 15 at 2 p.m.

Returned GI's Take Places On Mokena Board

For the first time in many months the Mokena Village Board met with a full membership Tuesday evening. Village trustees Philip J. Hacker and John Marti who were inducted into the service shortly after their election in 1943 and who have been discharged from the service took up their seats on the village board. They were given a hearty word of welcome and greeting by Mayor Everett J. Cooper and the rest of the village board members.

Mayor Cooper who last spring had to appoint committees with the members actually present on the village board, and now since there is a full board again, he has reappointed the various committees so as to take in all the members now on the board. The new list of appointments is as follows: Committees:

License Committee: James Egerton, C. M., Philip Hacker, Carl Wolter. Public Property: Charles Burkhardt, C. M., James Egerton, John Marti

Police Regulations: Harold Spiess, C. M., Charles Burkhardt, John Marti.

Nuisances: Charles Burkhardt, C. M., James Egerton, Carl Wolter.

Finance: John Marti, C. M., Charles Burkhardt, James Egerton.

Claims: James Egerton, C. M., Carl Wolter, Harold Spiess.

2 Christmas Shopping Editions

For the first time in its history of 28 years of continuous publication, The News-Bulletin has received more Christmas advertising this year than could be handled in one edition, so we are issuing a 16 page edition this week and the second Christmas edition next week. Most of the Christmas advertising came in unsolicited.

CAR KNOCKS DOWN PHONE POLE AND FARM YARD GATE

Failing to make the turn from First street onto the gravel road in front of the Elmer Benson farm on the east edge of Mokena this morning, a car in which Francis Rinke, Arthur Hurley and Eddie Tierney were riding crashed into a telephone pole and also knocked down a farm yard gate and then overturned. No one was hurt.

NEW ORGANIZATION IN LINCOLN ESTATES SCHOOL by Hattie Wieber, Publicity Chr.

School teachers Mrs. Hilda Walker, Mrs. Isabelle Davidson and parents of the Ann Rutledge School of Lincoln Estates met and organized the Parent Teachers organization for their school.

At present there are 47 members and it is hoped to have more new ones coming in. One parent at least is urged to become a member of the organization as goodwill to their children's future, for all things are planned for the good of these pupils.

Regular meetings are held the first Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p. m. at the school. Please come out, one and all, parents and members are all needed to make a success of the project.

To date our school has 48 pupils and with the help of Mrs. Davidson they are progressing as well as can be expected under crowded and inconvenient conditions. When the new addition, which is to be one large room and basement, is completed, better work can be accomplished by both pupils and teachers.

Many new things will be needed and to help secure these, bazaars, bake sales, and bunco's, also entertainments will be given. All donations of articles as needed will be greatly appreciated and accepted.

TO HOLD CHRISTMAS PARTY

A Christmas party given by the members of the Woman's Guild of the Grace Episcopal church of New Lenox will be held at the home of Mrs. John Spuehler on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 13. Games will be played and there will be a gift exchange. All friends are invited to attend.

VICTORY DINNER TONIGHT

Places will be set for 125 service men their wives and members of the Youth Fellowship in the parlors of St. John's church of Mokena for a victory dinner at 6:45 this evening. Mr. Wilbur Mancke will be master of ceremonies and Chaplain Geo. Knapp will be the speaker. Because of limited seating space the dinner is restricted to those who hold tickets.

Mokena On Verge of Big Business Boom Right Now

Mokena is on the verge of the largest business boom it has enjoyed in its history. A new feed and coal yard is opening up. A beauty shop, a farm implement store, a hardware store and a number of other shops expect to open in a short while.

L. S. Janes is to be given credit for making some of these new businesses possible. He has purchased a number of run-down places, remodeled them and made quarters for new business possible.

TO OPEN IMPLEMENT STORE IN MOKENA

Mr. Chas. Swanberg who several years ago operated a farm implement store in New Lenox, is now locating in Mokena. He has started work on a new building on the west side of Wolf Road several hundred feet south of the former Heisner garage. The building will be of concrete blocks with a brick front. Chas. Pfaff of Frankfort being the contractor in charge.

Mr. Swanberg understands the implement business thoroughly and will handle all good reliable makes.

This is a welcome business addition to Mokena as there is none of its kind here.

TINLEY PARK COUPLE SPEAK NUPTIAL VOWS

Miss Margaret Andres, daughter of Mrs. Caroline Andres of Tinley Park became the bride of Mr. Marcus Monson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Monson of Mokena Saturday afternoon, December 1, at four o'clock in the Tinley Park Methodist church with the Rev. J. Frank Anderson officiating. The double ring service was read.

The altar was decorated with palms and candles, the latter being lighted by Henry Bechstein and Fred Yunker.

Before the ceremony, Mrs. Henry Bechstein played a group of love songs and accompanied Miss Marion Andres as she sang "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly" at the close of the service.

The bride wore a white velvet gown with long train and finger tip veil. She carried an arm bouquet of pom poms and was given in marriage by her brother, Bernard Andres.

Miss Blenda Monson, sister of the groom was maid of honor. She wore a floor length gown of wine velvet, matching velvet turban and a pink blusher veil. She carried pink carnations.

Miss Lillian Schultz of Blue Island was bridesmaid and was gowned in emerald green velvet, with matching turban and yellow blusher veil. Her flowers were yellow carnations.

Little Evelyn Andres of Chicago, niece of the bride was the flower girl and wore a floor length white gown and carried a small white basket from which she dropped petals of flowers in the bride's path.

The groom was attended by Mr. Wm. Lauffer, cousin of the bride and Mr. Fred Yunker served as usher.

Following the ceremony and reception the members of the Women's Society of Christian Service served a bountiful dinner in the church dining room to a hundred guests. In the evening a wedding dance was given in Saenger Hall by the groom's parents, and attended by 300 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Monson have gone to housekeeping on a farm located at 80th Ave. and 167th St., Tinley Park.

The many friends of this couple wish them much happiness in their future life.

NEW BUSINESSES OPEN IN TINLEY PARK SATURDAY

Tinley Park will have two new business establishments this week. A new cleaning and dying establishment will open up Saturday morning in the former George Schreiber building in Tinley Park. The operators of the new business are Emery Fulton and Howard Mager, both recently discharged from army service.

The Tinley Park Radio Shop at 17352 Oak Park ave., will also open its doors to the public for the first time this Saturday morning. Radio repairs will be a special feature. Washing machines also are handled.

TO HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICE IN MARLEY CHURCH

A Memorial Service will be held in the Marley Community church Sunday afternoon December 16 at three o'clock in memory of Elwood Dale of Homer who made the supreme sacrifice when he lost his life in the USS Indianapolis when that boat was delivering very important material in connection with the atomic bomb which was dropped on Tokyo.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

Fred Reimers of Mokena who underwent a major operation in the Silver Cross hospital last week, is convalescing nicely.

Hold Last Rites For Mrs. Emil Braun of New Lenox

Mrs. Elizabeth Braun, aged 62 years of New Lenox, who suffered a stroke a few weeks ago, died November 28 in Silver Cross hospital in Joliet.

The deceased was born in New Lenox Township, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sass.

Surviving are her husband, Emil W., one son Laverne; one daughter Loretta (Mrs. Roscoe Ridgeway) of New Lenox; one sister, Mrs. Emma Selk of Plymouth, Neb., two brothers, Edward Sass of Bellplane, Minn., and Louise Sass of Marley; three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held last Saturday afternoon at 1:30 at the Wunderlich Funeral Home in Joliet, the Rev. James Manz, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church of New Lenox officiating. Interment was made in the Maplewood cemetery, New Lenox.

FRANKFORT ADOPTS HOUSE NUMBERING PLAN

For sometime Frankfort has been considering putting on metropolitan means of easy identification of its business places and residences by way of a house numbering plan. At the meeting of the village board on Monday night, the council passed an ordinance creating a house numbering plan which is to be put into effect as soon as possible. The plan was drawn by the Village engineers, Mulford and McCoy of Chicago Heights.

According to the plan all numbers for east and west streets will start from White street and all numbers for north and south streets from the Michigan Central tracks.

This new system will be a great help for out of town people doing business in Frankfort to easily locate the business place or residence of the person they wish to contact.

NEW LENOX WOMAN'S CLUB PLANS INTERESTING PROGRAM

The New Lenox Woman's club has planned a very attractive program to be presented in the school auditorium, Thursday evening, December 13. The proceeds will be used for the New Lenox Library.

Mrs. M. D. Renkenberger of Joliet will show her nature pictures and give a most entertaining talk and the musical part of the program will be given by the music students of the Joliet high school.

The Library has been in operation for a period of ten years. It was started by the Woman's Club and has been supported by them through the generous co-operation of the community.

Since the lack of room made it necessary to move out of the school building it has been located in the Red Cross rooms above the Bruns Barber shop.

At the present time the Library contains 1700 volumes besides reference books, magazines and has over 100 cards in active use. It is especially appreciated by the High school students and the children of the community. It is open for their use Monday, evenings from 6:30 to 8:30 and on Friday afternoons from 2 to 5 with Mrs. Geo. Morris as Librarian.

The club is again appealing to the community for financial help and hopes to have the auditorium well filled for this program.

STEAL EVERGREEN SHRUBS

Evergreen shrubs which were recently set out in the Mineral Spring subdivision south of Mokena, have been stolen from the property. L. S. Janes is offering a cash reward for information leading to the apprehension of the guilty parties. Anyone wishing to contact Mr. Janes can do so by calling Orland 53-R-2. Mr. Janes says the shrubs can be easily identified by a soil analysis.

FRANKFORT PLANS FOR SEWERAGE DISPOSAL PLANT

Frankfort has been allotted $1,180 by the state for making plans for a future municipal project. The Village board has decided to use this allotment to draw up plans for a sewerage disposal plant. The village engineers, Mulford & McCoy of Chicago Heights are to start work on these plans in the very near future.

Just Started In Business In Mokena; Funeral Sunday

Albert Hentsch, aged 46, Mokena business man and police magistrate, died very suddenly of a heart attack about 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Together with Fred Steinhagen, also of Mokena, he had been in Frankfort in the afternoon and helped load a boiler on Mr. Steinhagen's truck for delivery to his appliance and stoker shop in Mokena. When a short distance out of Frankfort he was seized with a very severe heart attack. Mr. Steinhagen drove as fast as he could to get to Mokena and upon arrival stopped at Mr. Hentsch's shop and told the latter's wife, Dorothy what had happened. Mr. Hentsch was assisted into his shop and Dr. M. J. Buckley of Frankfort summoned. He ordered the stricken man to be taken home and put to bed. This was done. About five o'clock he suffered another heart spell and within a few minutes passed away. His sudden demise came as a great shock to the community. He had appeared to be in good health and had been quite active about his business.

Mr. Hentsch opened an appliance and stoker shop in the former Red Cross work room in Mokena a short time ago. His wife also put in a very nice line of toys and gifts for the Christmas trade and the new business appeared to be on the road to success.

The deceased held the office of police magistrate in Mokena for a number of years.

Previous to going into business for himself, the deceased was engaged in various other lines of business, among them the auto repair business and operated a repair shop in Joliet for some time.

Surviving are his wife Dorothy, one son, one brother Fred and his father, August Hentsch all of Mokena.

The deceased was born in Tinley Park, April 13, 1899.

He was united in marriage with Miss Dorothy Wachter of Mokena, July 8, 1921.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the St. John Evangelical church in Mokena with Rev. Wm. Riemann officiating. Burial will be made in the St. John cemetery. Body is resting at the home in Mokena until Sunday.

ORGANIZE FRANKFORT WOMAN'S BOWLING LEAGUE

At a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Kathy Swinford, a Frankfort Woman's Bowling League was organized. Mrs. Swinford was named president, Mrs. B. Krusemark is treasurer and Mrs. Lola Dodson, secretary. The group is divided into four teams, the Power House, Swing, Whiz and Chuckles headed by captains Luella Schrod, Rose Zachos, Luella Reils and B. Krusemark. Other members are: Annette Kohlhaagen, Catherine Priam, Lucille Hansen, Violet Warning, Frances Breidert, Audrey Skuter, Vivian Schellhase, Sue Schroth, Marion Schellhase, Bernice Peterson, Esther Subbert Dorothy Lehnert, Marie Mager, and Virginia Erickson.

After three weeks of bowling at New Lenox each Thursday evening, handicaps will be figured and the teams organized.

Meet your neighbors. Let us sing, together, Sunday nite December 9 at 7:45 o'clock.

"The song is the Thing". Let us Sing. Everyone welcome.

ORLAND FIRE DEPARTMENT HAS CALL

The Orland Park Fire Department was called Tuesday afternoon to the K. P. Farm, east of Orland Park on 143rd street. This is the former Edw. Schmaedeke farm and is owned by Harold Schakow.

Straw in the barn was burning, but no damage was done to buildings.

SAENGER HALL TIMETABLE

Dec. 15—Dance with Faletti orch.

MOST of the club owners and managers in the National league are wondering how they can keep the Cardinals in check through 1946. Many of them are hoping to get in on the big sale when said Cardinals begin to shed some of their surplus talent.

And it might be mentioned that more than a few of the ball players who wore big league uniforms last season are wondering what minor league will get their services when a new season starts.

For there will be many a sad farewell to big league glory when the servicemen start returning in groups—some 200 of them who will be back when the bluebird starts chirping in the sun next March.

The American league shows better prospects of a hot scrap than the National.

The Yankees will have DiMaggio, Keller, Henrich, Lindell, Gordon, Rizzuto, Johnson, Chandler, Ruffing, Russo and several others in camp.

This is a formidable group. But don't forget that Joe Cronin of the Red Sox will also have on hand such stars as Ted Williams, Tex Hughson, Bobby Doerr, Dom DiMaggio, Pesky at short, Harris and a few more who can play their full allotment of baseball. Not overlooking Dave Ferris. And don't forget the Tigers will have Wakefield, McCosky, Mullin, Greenberg, with a pitching staff that includes Newhouser, Trout and Trucks.

The Three Leaders

The Yankees, Red Sox and Tigers should be the three A. L. leaders as far as one can see now through the gathering winter mists and fogs.

Most of the others will have a hard time matching this talent. They won't have equal pitching or batting strength as it looks today.

Things will be even rougher for such teams in the National league as the Phillies, Braves, Reds and even the Giants. These have no ball players returning with the class and quality of the Cardinal array. And they are already well back of the Cubs. The Dodgers have the best chance to finish high up. They can't move back the Cardinals but by next spring with Reiser, Reese and other returning stars added to their improving young talent they will have quite a ball club. This will include good pitching, hard hitting and speed. But they will also need a few more good men, especially on the pitching and infield side.

Mandarin Rickey could use a few of the stars he once controlled on the Cardinal farms.

Fumbling Tigers

It was generally agreed, except for its pitching and Greenberg's hitting, the Tiger club was perhaps the worst that ever appeared in a world series. Trout, Trucks and Newhouser plus Greenberg's big bat should have planted the Tigers on top in four of the first six games. But the Tigers defensive play in the fifth and sixth game and part of its offensive play in the sixth game was something too terrible to look at. It belonged to the sandlot variety where infield and outfield pop-ups were not even touched, where they threw badly to the wrong base and where they otherwise committed mayhem on the grand old game. Only their pitchers and Greenberg kept them going against a Cub team that was certainly no world series prize.

"The Cubs finished the seven-game series with a team batting average around .263, well ahead of the Tigers," one oldtimer points out.

"But don't forget most of the Cub hits should have been handled. Tiger pitching was far better than it looked to be in the figures. With just fair support for Tiger pitching, the Cubs wouldn't have batted .200."

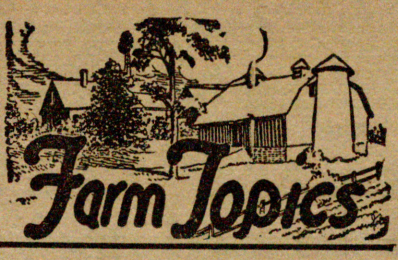

Up to the closing game, the Cubs had no pitching to offer except Borowy and Passeau. The others were on the soft side, easy targets for Tiger bats. The Cubs also had no power punch worth writing about. The two 1945 teams were far below the quality of the Cardinals and Browns a year ago. They were the worst of all the wartime teams in almost every respect. But at least they kept things exciting with every one wondering what bum play or boner they would pull next.

A good part of it all was a travesty on world series baseball, with the big spot and the big stake to be won or lost, yet interest remained at high ebb all the way through.

Cobb on Batting

Recently I asked Cobb if he had any advice to give young hitters, now coming up.

"Here are two main points," he said. "Stand well back in the batter's box. Don't move up forward. By standing back you can see and judge better how a curve will break. Don't crowd the plate. Keep in position where you have the leverage left to hit an inside pitch. Too many hitters stand too far forward and too close to the plate."

Bee Practices Show Efficient Progress

Insemination, Feeding, Management Change

Artificial insemination of bees has become a reality. The bee culture laboratory of the department of agriculture has developed a method by which queens can be fertilized artificially so that the domestic bee breeds of the future can be developed according to value and not to chance.

Some bee raisers believe it is advisable to clip the wings of the queen bee, to prevent any wanderlust habit from developing.

When drone bees are spotted it is well to remove them, they are trouble makers. If they are not removed, however, the workers will soon kill them off.

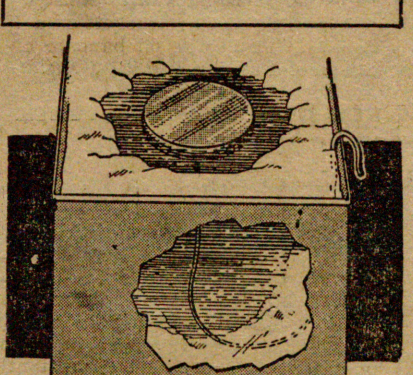

When it is necessary to feed the bees, in winter, or periods of nectar shortage, ordinary sugar syrup is no longer recommended. By adding pollen to the syrup, egg laying starts within 12 hours. There is a wide variation, however, in content of the various nectars. High egg-laying has been found associated with the gathering of nectar from mustards, manzanita and sweet clover.

Not Too Late to Mulch

Less likelihood of winter injury to plants, prevention of soil erosion by wind and rain, and less danger of heaving caused by rapid freezing and thawing of the soil, results when strawberry beds are properly mulched.

Salt hay is the best material available, although straw or spoiled hay is also acceptable. The best time to apply is when the ground has frozen solid enough for a truck to be driven over it. Apply about two tons per acre to both the rows and the middles. Put on enough so that no plants are visible, but don't overdo it by applying mulch too thickly.

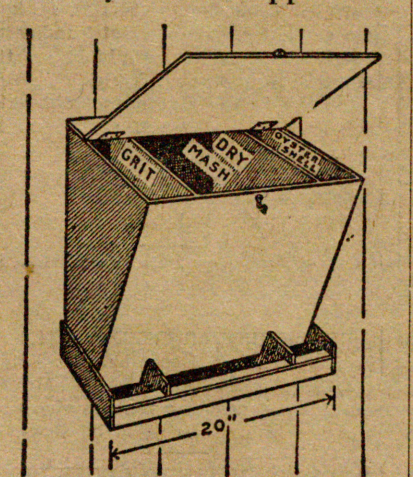

New in Machinery De-Icer

A stock-tank de-icer, produced by General Electric company, solves one of the most troublesome problems of all farmers located in areas subjected to spells of freezing weather.

No adjustments are required and maintenance is not necessary. All that is necessary is to plug it into the light circuit. It floats on top of the water, thus melting the ice.

Dry Mash Hopper

Dry-Mash Hopper for Use in the Laying House.

This dry mash hopper is intended for use inside the laying house, or may be made for growing stock. It should be hung about 8 inches above litter.

Study Soil Nutrition

Soil fertility, rainfall, erosion, leaching, climatic conditions and soil composition are all vitally concerned in profitable production and feeding. Nearly every section of the country now has soil peculiarities which cause nutritional deficiencies, according to the American Veterinary Medical association. The swine belt, cattle country, milk sheds, etc., were not arrived at by accident, but have grown up partly because of nutritional facilities present in section.

The New York Scene:

Faces About Town: Eddie Cantor convulsing chums with a report on how a coast rabble-rouser flayed him in a speech. He called the star: "Eddie Cantor, the er, er, international banker!" . . . Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen reminiscing with other Broadway showfolks on one-time vaudeville companions. . . . The Paul Gallico with the Paul Drapers. . . . Margo, the star, telling youthful Bill Mauldin (the "Up Front" author) how much good he is doing for his countrymen. . . . Peggy Hopkins Joyce intensely interested in Diosa Costello's hip-flipping at the Havana-Madrid. . . . Skeets Gallagher being asked for his autograph while Bebe Daniels (the former film star) went unrecognized by the same kids. . . . Martha Raye, fit to be handcuffed. A midtown hotel management disregarded her baby and ejected them from a suite because "it is reserved for a cocktail party."

Sallies in Our Alley: Ken Roberts, the radio announcer, was explaining how atom could be broken up. "A," he said, "is for Attlee, T is for Truman and M is for Molotov." . . . "What about the O?" asked Dorothy Shay. . . . "That's the big zero," Ken explained, "which is what the world will be if those three don't get together." . . . Doodles Weaver knows a punch-drunk pugilist who can't afford a sparring partner, so he calls taxi drivers names.

Midtown Vignette: The Mayor the other day sat in Magistrate's Court where he fined many motorists for this and that. . . . He let off many more, however, with merely a reprimand. . . . It reminded us of this episode. . . . An out-of-towner was motoring up Broadway and slipped past a changing traffic light. When he stopped at the next corner a cop said: "Red lights mean nothing to you, eh? Let's see your license." . . . The out-of-towner handed it over, and the gendarme made notes in his little book after which he handed the motorist a folded bit of paper and his license. "Get along now," he ordered. . . . At the next red light the stranger read the slip of paper. It said: "Don't pass no more red lights."

Memorial to Gus Edwards: His simple and clean songs (lyrics by Will D. Cobb) were the heart—the signature of a whole period of American history. What family has not sung "School Days"? or "Sunbonnet Sue"? And how many grandmothers were courted with "By the Light of the Silvery Moon"? . . . His songs were the kind American people loved to hum and sing in their kitchens or parlors. Because Mr. Edwards and Mr. Cobb never wrote a song a man couldn't sing to his mother—or his wife couldn't teach their daughter. . . . He leaves us with the memory of a useful life. . . . A noble, dignified and devoted wife. . . . And a song to sing.

The Mags: In the current issue of a magazine the ubiquitous Bennett Cerf writes about practical jokes. . . . For our money, he left out (or never heard of) the best and most touching one of all. . . . It happened to an eloping couple who were told that if they went to the White House, the President would marry them. . . . They were very guillible—and their advisor very convincing. . . . Anyhow they went. . . . How they got in, we dunno. . . . But the President, quickly sizing up the situation, turned the tables. . . . He sent for a minister, stood up as their best man, and then invited the couple to spend their wedding night in the White House. . . . Although it might have been FDR, it wasn't. . . . It was A. L.

Manhattan Murals: The bobby-soxers starting the queue at the Paramount to get the choice seats during Sinatra's engagement. . . . They start as early as 4:30 a. m. . . . The Empire State edifice—recovered from its wounds (after that horrible plane crash into its throat), wearing a look of indestructibility again. . . . The well-dressed middle-aged man walking into the St. Moritz foyer one middle of the night without his hat, overcoat, shoes and sox!

Marlene Dietrich's pals hear she has sold most of her jewelry because she refused film offers (to go overseas with our troops) and needs cash. . . . Charles Farrell, no dope he, invested $50,000 in five Palm Springs bungalows, which will bring neat rentals. . . . Paul Lukas' mission abroad was gov't inspired. He returned with a list of rich Hungarians who colluded with Hitlerites.

An avalanche of activity rumbling across Erie Basin, the nation's busiest shipping center. . . . Exuberant block parties welcoming home servicemen. . . . Manhattan Beach, where the building of apartment houses is prohibited. . . . The Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial arch on Eastern Parkway. Poetry chiseled in stone. . . . One of the most compelling examples of the Big Burg's visual magic: When night conceals the shoreline the waterfront skyscrapers' illuminated towers seem suspended in the dark.

Smart Accessories for Bathroom

A BATHROOM'S as smart as its accessories. Make yours lovely by just knitting rugs, stool and seat cover in rug cotton, or of old stockings.

To give variety, sprinkle a little grated cheese over top of raisin, apple or mince pie and heat for five minutes in a moderate oven.

For indoor painting a high gloss paint is the best because it provides a smooth surface that sheds dirt and is easily cleaned.

Marks caused by matches struck on a painted surface usually can be removed by rubbing them with a cut lemon.

Worn linoleum can be brought back to life by using a special paint made by several of the larger manufacturers.

Soaking clothes overnight is not desirable, as the long soaking has a tendency to let the dirt freed from clothes settle back into the fabric.

Most woolen garments that become stained may be cleaned safely with soap and water.

Salt may pit your cast aluminum ware. Never store salty foods in aluminum, and to prevent salt used in cooking from settling in the bottom of the utensil to do its harm, add salt only when the water boils or food has already been added.

Sprinkling sawdust from the woodyard over icy paths around the home prevents one from slipping and is better than sand for this purpose because it doesn't stick to shoes and track into the house as badly as sand. Scraping sawdust on the place where one is standing to saw wood keeps the feet warm.

Try ALL-BRAN Apple Spice Muffins!

(No sugar, no shortening, but lots of praise!)

It's hard to believe such luscious muffins are sugarless and shorteningless—but they are! They owe their wonderful flavor to a combination of ginger, cinnamon, molasses and the tasty, nut-sweet goodness of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. And they owe their tender texture to the fact that ALL-BRAN is milled extra-fine for golden softness.

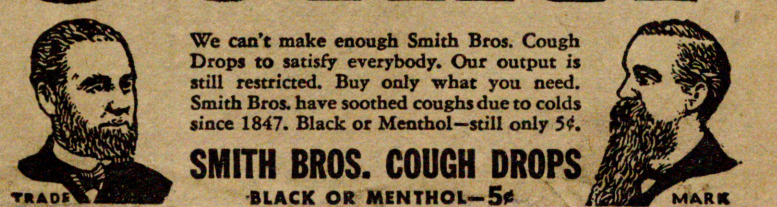

2 cups Kellogg's ALL-BRAN 1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/2 cup molasses 1/2 teaspoon ginger
1 1/2 cups milk 15 slices raw apple
1 egg, beaten 1 cup sifted flour or other fruit
1 teaspoon soda cinnamon-and-sugar mixture
1/2 teaspoon salt

Add ALL-BRAN to molasses and milk and allow to soak for 15 minutes. Add egg. Sift flour, soda, salt and spices

Good Nutrition, too!

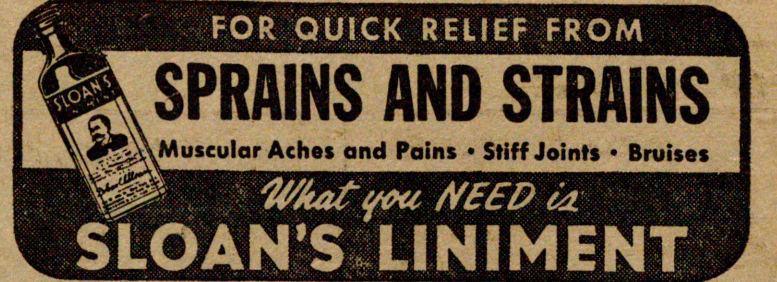

ALL-BRAN is made from the VITAL OUTER LAYERS of finest wheat—contains a concentration of the protective food elements found in the whole grain. One-half cup provides over 1/2 your daily minimum need for iron. Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily!

SNAPPY FACTS

about RUBBER

Special sponge rubber tablecloths, developed by B. F. Goodrich, attached to tables in factory assembly lines enable assemblers to pick up small metal parts without fumbling.

Officials predict that tire production may jump to nearly 4,000,000 passenger car tires a month during the last quarter of 1945.

Spare tires should never remain idle until other tires are worn out. Rubber needs to be "exercised" to keep it in best condition.

The new B. F. Goodrich all-synthetic Silvertown passenger car tire actually outwears prewar natural rubber tires.

Tinley GI Finds Home Best of All

It is a human trait, when young, that we tire and get somewhat disgusted with our surroundings and long for a change, and this was no exception with those who left their home towns and entered the service. But after being so far from home, and for a long, long time and doing so much traveling, these small villages look so much better to the returning men, than did the large cities which held the attractions previously.

And so it was when Howard Mager, who had spent two years in a southern Pacific island arrived in Tinley Park again, he said it was the best place on earth and he doesn't want to go anywhere else again.

Howard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mager of Tinley Park was inducted into the service March 23, 1942 and trained in this country just six weeks, in the medical department before sailing on the USS Santa Lucia and landed June 10, 1942 in the Fiji Islands in the South Pacific. The part of the island where Howard was stationed is called Viti Levi and is a British possession. The people there are civilized. It is an army air base for the United States and our country built there four large hospitals with an average of 500 bed capacity. Howard was a Sgt. Major and worked in the office in connection with these hospitals.

These islands are beautiful. The weather is hot and averages around 136 inches of rainfall a year. The main crop raised there is Copra, which are coconuts raised for the oil, not for eating. The food the men had there was of the dehydrated kind. It is thought now, that the need for the hospitals have greatly diminished, that the British will make a resort of these islands.

On Nov. 1, 1944 he sailed on a Liberty Ship to New Caledonia and there transferred to the USS General Randall, a navy transport with 7,000 aboard, and landed at Los Angeles, Nov. 22, 1944. He enjoyed Thanksgiving dinner that year in Camp Anza, Cal. and then enjoyed a ten day delay enroute at home in Tinley Park, to Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania.

At this camp he had 16 weeks of training in officer's candidate school in the medical administration corp. At the end of that training he was sent to a medical depot in Louisville, Ky., where he remained for five months serving in a supervisory capacity.

When he left Tinley Park to go to Pennsylvania he took his wife with him and it was her privilege to be with him until at Louisville, he was ordered to Ft. Sheridan for discharge on Oct. 6, when he came home to Tinley Park for good. And did the home town look good! Just ask him. He was given an outstanding gift, for he was home but a few days when twin boys were born to he and Mrs. Mager on Oct. 10.

And all through these years Howard said the Tinley Park Times followed him, several weeks old, while in the Fiji Islands, but always good to read. And because he never wants to leave Tinley Park again, he and his brother-in-law Emory Fulton, another returned soldier have started a new business in Tinley Park, the F and M Cleaners, and are all ready to go into action on a friendly basis with everyone, in doing what can be done to continue to keep Tinley Park a good place to live.

NEW DRIVERS LAW

Calling attention of the new Illinois drivers' responsibility law which becomes effective Jan. 1 1946, Governor Dwight H. Green declared the measure will afford protection against automobile accidents caused by reckless and irresponsible drivers.

The Governor pointed out that under the new law operators of both vehicles involved in an accident causing damage of more than $50 to either car must report the matter to the state division of highways at Springfield within ten days. Accidents causing death or personal injury must be reported within 24 hours.

The division of highways will investigate the amount of damage or injury involved, and will require the motorists to prove their ability to pay such judgments as they may be found liable for by the court. Under the new statute financial responsibility may be proved by posting a cash deposit or other approved bond, or by means of a certificate from an automobile insurance company showing insurance at the time of the accident. Motorists may be called on to show responsibility up to $1,000 for property damage, up to $5,000 for injury or death to one person, and $10,000 for injury or death to more than one person.

Word comes from Mr. Paul Wilson that he and his wife and child are now residing in Pittsburgh, Pa. and are very happy and like that part of the country very much.

Sunday Mrs. Clemens attended a Memorial service in Blue Island.

Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Manec held an Open house for their friends and relatives in honor of their 59th wedding anniversary.

The Hat Shop bunco met at the home of Mrs. Clemens this week and celebrated their Christmas party with a gift exchange.

Wednesday Mesdames Schanz and Jahrmart motored to Evanston to visit the former's sister. Mrs. Klitte of Salem, Wis. was also present.

Thursday the Smiling Thru Bunco met and played at the home of Mrs. P. Jahrmart.

Pfc. Clarence Siebrandt arrived home from overseas the past week. He received his discharge at Camp Grant, Ill. He served in the armed forces 41 months and has been overseas 2 years serving with the Railroad battalion in India. He saw action there and was awarded a battle star for the combat he was in. He wears the Asiatic Pacific ribbon, American Campaign ribbon, American Defense medal, Good conduct ribbon, India Burma China sleeve emblem.

Clarence left Calcutta, India on Oct. 27 on the ship Stewart and arrived in New York Nov. 24. He said his trip home was very rough, the weather stormy and all the boys including himself were sea sick.

Mrs. Frank Baldwin attended the first annual meeting and luncheon of the Chicago Horticulture Society and Garden Center at the LaSalle Hotel last Wednesday. Dr. Vernon T. Stoutmeyer of the U. S. Department of Agriculture showed how by manipulating a thermostat, amateur gardeners can grow their own plants and flowers in an automatic miniature greenhouse. This simple home made unit so small it can be set up in a basement.

Tinley Park PTA Meets Today

At 2 pm. this afternoon in the school gym we will hold our regular PTA meeting and Christmas program.

Rev. Clinton C. Cox of Chicago will give the address.

—Frances Webster, Publicity Chr.

Capt. Samuel S. Leavitt, Orland Park Ill., doctor, was commended for special medical and laboratory work on a tropical disease called schistosomiasis while serving with the 13th Station hospital unit in the Pacific, was placed on inactive duty status this week at Camp McCoy's separation center.

A graduate of the University of Illinois medical school, Chicago, Capt. Leavitt practiced for 10 years before entering military service.

He participated in the New Guinea, Netherlands East Indies and Philippines campaigns. In the Philippines he served on Leyte and Mindoro islands. He plans on resuming his practice in the near future in Orland Park.

Urges Final All Out Effort

Harold W. Prehn, President of the Illinois State War Fund, today appealed for an all out concerted effort to put Illinois over the top in the current, last campaign of the National War Fund for monies to support the USO, United Seaman's Service and other post war related activities.

There are still thousands of our boys and girls yet in uniform, who desperately need the morale building services of the USO and USO Camp Shows. During this most critical time in human history, other agencies serving the vast and tragic needs of suffering civilian war victims also justify our support, Prehn stated.

With Illinois having raised only 74 percent of its goal, all of us must assume responsibility for increasing our contributions and continuing our campaign efforts until every school district and township has successfully met their quota, it was further stated.

Merry Xmas Assured

A Merry Christmas is assured the 2000 First and Second World War veterans and nurses being hospitalized at the Edward Hines Hospital, says County Treasurer Victor L. Schlaeger, general chairman of the Midwest Baseball League's 15th Annual Xmas Party to be staged at the hospital Dec. 12th.

According to Schlaeger, each of the vets and nurses will be presented with Christmas gifts made up of bath robes, sweaters, slippers, cigarettes, candy, cookies, tooth paste and brushes, fruit, cigars and other wearing apparel.

A group of public spirited women are now at work filling stockings and bags and they will distribute them on the afternoon of the affair. Starting at 6 P. M., a three hour program of music, theatrics, etc., will get under way.

Schlaeger speaking as chairman said: "In behalf of the committees that helped make this affair what it is going to be and myself, I want to say it is a pleasure to do this for the vets and nurses, those folks who gave so much to keep our country free from enemy attack. It is the least we can do for them."

Homer Man Weds California Girl

Of interest to relatives and friends in Homer and vicinity, is the marriage of Thomas Gougar Stout, Petty Officer 1-c, to Miss Esther Ethelda Getty of Los Angeles, California. Miss Getty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Getty of Cedar Falls, Iowa and Mr. Stout is the son of Mrs. Myrtle Stout of Homer and the late Thomas Stout. The wedding was solemnized in the First Methodist church of Pasadena, Cal. at four o'clock in the afternoon on Saturday, November 24.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Bernard Horner as matron of honor, and her cousin Miss Virginia Horning as bridesmaid. Another cousin, Mr. Glenn Hunter served the groom as best man.

The double ring ceremony was used and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The church was beautiful with large baskets of white chrysanthemum and many white candles.

Miss Getty wore an exquisite wedding gown of heavy white satin with a long waisted bodice and full gathered skirt and long train. The yoke of the dress was white silk lace while a train length tulle veil held in place a tiara of pearls, and a pearl necklace, the gift of the groom, completed the costume. She carried a lovely white orchid and a white prayer book.

Mrs. Horner wore pink net over pink satin and Miss Horning's dress was of wisteria net over satin; these were fashioned similarly to the bride's.

Following the marriage ceremony, a reception at the home of an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Horning in Pasadena, was attended by one hundred seventy five guests.

Mrs. Getty, the brides mother wore brown crepe with tan accessories and a corsage of pink roses, while the groom's mother was dressed in a beige print cable net with brown accessories and corsage of yellow roses.

The former Miss Getty is a Home Economist in the Los Angeles Research Laboratories of the Kerr Glass Mfg. Co. Mr. Stout, who has been with the Seabees on Guam for two years, expects to be discharged from the Army by Jan. 1st.

The couple are spending a two week honeymoon at Lake Arrowhead in San Bernardino Forest, Cal. They expect to reside in Los Angeles.

Issues Warning

Miami Beach, Fla., Dec. 4.—Solemn warning that the existing drift toward centralization of government in Washington means the end of government by the States was sounded at the opening of the annual convention here today of the National Association of Railroad and Utility Commissioners by Judge John D. Briggs, president of the Association and chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission.

Judge Briggs, whose remarks were made in the annual president's speech to the Association, suggested State utility commissioners be particularly alert during the post war adjustment period to halt, if possible, any further efforts to encroach upon State rights. These efforts will certainly be accentuated during this period, he said. His remarks upon this subject follow:

"Respecting all matters of legislation which touch the exercise of State power, let me make the general observation that this period of post war readjustment, when Congress is seeking to aid and encourage business, is a time when our governmental structure is peculiarly liable to suffer permanent injury. It is a time when those who would preserve our government as it was established and came down to us, must be alertly and resolutely on guard. The great drift toward centralization of power in the national government, at the expense of the States, in the last twenty five years, emphasizes this danger.

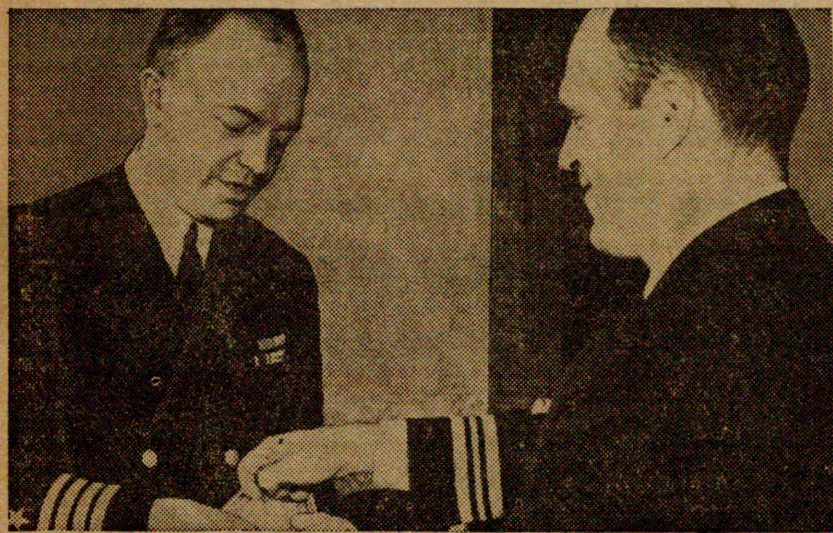

"I am not an alarmist but I believe it is evident that unless the people of the Nation awake and call upon their Congress to halt the present drift toward centralization of governmental power in Washington those who come after us will not have a dual government in fact, though the form of it may continue to exist. The essential powers of government will be exercised through bureaus of the central government in Washington."

Undeclared Civil War of China Area

Shantung province seaport of Tsingtao took a place in the forefront of undeclared civil war in China when Chiang's troops were landed from American transports. Occupied since October 11 by U. S. marines, the possibility of involvement in clashes has been heightened by fact that Chinese Communist forces ring the port by land.

Veterans' SERVICE BUREAU

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Western Newspaper Union at 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. Questions may be addressed to the above Bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

Local Service Centers

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, administrator of veterans' affairs, in a recent statement declared that the most pressing need, insofar as the civilian population and the veteran is concerned, is the establishment of a single service center in every community so that benefits to the veterans can "get down to the grass roots of the home community."

Many communities already have set up these centers where the returning veteran may go for information, for service, for advice, but there are thousands of home communities where no such benefit is available to the veteran.

"We have the plans," General Bradley said, "but you can't help a veteran with a plan. We need the help of business, patriotic and civic organizations, of the press and radio, in solving a problem of space and personnel which is slowing up our job."

In the meantime, the veterans administration has inaugurated a six-point program for amputee rehabilitation to include: (1) direct veteran contact to learn problems, invite criticism and provide corrective measures; (2) a survey to determine availability of prosthetic appliances; (3) to provide each veteran a booklet with essential information; (4) a program of scientific after-care designed to meet the need of the veteran; (5) a conference with artificial limb manufacturers to establish fixed limb standards; (6) to establish a museum of prosthetic appliances.

Questions and Answers

Q. I want to know if a man who has been in the army over six months, is 30 years old and has a wife and four children, will be sent overseas or will he get a discharge soon?—Wife, Strasburg, N. D.

A. According to regulations at this time your husband is eligible for overseas service. According to the information you give, he has only approximately 42 points.

Q. I want to know if my husband can get a discharge. He has been in service 21 months and overseas 14 months and has four children and is needed at home since his mother is his dependent, too, and very feeble. He is in the army and is 29 years old.—L. B., Pisgah, Ala.

A. Without any points for battle stars or decorations, your husband has 71 points so he would be eligible for discharge.

Q. My husband served nine months in World War I, five of these overseas. While in service, one of his ear drums was affected from roar of guns and he can hear but very little. During this time his service record was lost and now he cannot get help because he doesn't have a record of his ear. Does he have to be handicapped because the army lost his record? He can do very little work.—Wife, Deatsville, Ala.

A. Your husband's service record should be in the war department in Washington. Would suggest that you immediately file a claim for pension, due to disability, with the Veterans administration at Birmingham. Write to the bureau of enlisted personnel, war department, Washington, D. C., concerning his service record, giving all details possible.

Q. I was called for the army September 4, 1918, and went to Fort Riley, Kans., and got my discharge at Fort Riley September 14, 1918. I got the $60 bonus and the whole outfit of uniforms. Did guard duty and my serial number was 3474300. I asked for the soldier tax exemption in Iowa and they turned me down.—E. J. H., Webster City, Iowa.

A. You were apparently in the army only 10 days, but the internal revenue bureau says there is no federal tax exemption for veterans except on disability payments and the $1,500 exemption on active service pay. There may be an Iowa state law providing for some form of tax exemption for veterans. Suggest you apply to your state or local tax authorities.

Q. My husband, who is in the navy, has three children and is 26 years old. Under this new system of discharging fathers of three children, will he be eligible for discharge?—Wife, Vanderbilt, Mich.

A. The navy department says "yes."

Q. How long will boys 18 or 19 years of age, who entered service in the spring of 1945 and are now on their way overseas, remain in the service?—N. G., Lancaster, Wis.

A. Under present regulations, until they have the required number of points to make them eligible for discharge.

Q. I want to know if a man who has been in the navy 21 months, is 34 years old and has a wife and three children will be discharged?—Wife, Owens Cross Roads, Ala.

A. Yes, he is eligible for application for discharge.

The Washington MERRY-GO-ROUND

EISENHOWER—DEMOCRAT OR REPUBLICAN

WASHINGTON. — When Admiral Dewey returned triumphant from capturing the Philippines in the Spanish-American war, newsmen asked the conquering hero whether he was a Democrat or a Republican. The admiral wasn't quite sure which. That ended the Dewey boom for President.

Today, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower may be put in the same position as Admiral Dewey. Both parties are considering new blood for 1948. GOP leaders are convinced that, given a candidate who can win labor votes yet not alienate the Hoover conservatives, they can win. Obviously, Eisenhower is important presidential timber.

Popular impression is that Eisenhower is a Republican. He was appointed to West Point from the rock-ribbed Republican state of Kansas by GOP Senator Joseph P. Bristow. And nobody in those days could get anywhere in Kansas unless he was a Republican.

However, though it may be news to GOP leaders, Dwight Eisenhower put himself on record early in life as a Democrat. Furthermore, he was an energetic William Jennings Bryan Democrat, and in November, 1909, made a speech at the annual Democratic banquet held in Abilene, Kan. The other speakers were older and seasoned Kansas Democrats; but Dwight Eisenhower, then only 19, was picked to stand up with them and harangue the crowd. He did.

IKE'S OLD FRIEND

I am indebted for this information to J. W. Howe now of Emporia, Kan. Howe not only published the Abilene News, but was a member of the school board and knew young Dwight better than anyone outside his own family.

The Abilene News office was headquarters for a group of high school boys who came there to discuss their problems, talk sports and politics, read the papers and do odd jobs for the paper. J. W. Howe says of Eisenhower:

"Dwight liked to read the exchange newspapers from out of town. He never complained about working, seeming to take that for granted. In school discussions, he was always for the under-dog and contended we needed a somewhat better distribution of wealth."

William Jennings Bryan at that time had made many speeches in Abilene and the young folks liked to hear him. In fact, Bryan made some definite inroads on the republicans. The Republican party at that time was beginning to be split into two groups, led by Taft and Teddy Roosevelt. The fight in Abilene was bitter, and this was the situation when Dwight Eisenhower started out in 1909 to get the proper endorsements to enter West Point.

DWIGHT GOT TO WEST POINT

The Eisenhower family had no political pull — on the contrary. Dwight's father was listed as a Democrat, though he took little part in politics. Dwight himself was more active than his father, but whatever pull he had was with the Democrats. However, the factional Republican fight helped him. Editor Howe, the town's chief Democratic leader, advised Dwight to go get the endorsement of Phil W. Heath, editor of the Abilene Chronicle and spokesman for the "Square-Deal" Republicans; also to get the endorsement of Charles M. Harger, editor of the Abilene Reflector, spokesman for the "Stand-Pat" Republicans.

Since young Eisenhower was not allied with either faction, Heath and Harger were very friendly, and gladly gave him their support. Thus, he was able to obtain not only the endorsement of the Democrats, but of both Republican factions—a real compliment to his standing in the community.

Eisenhower's first and only venture into politics occurred while he was taking postgraduate work at the Abilene high school, preparatory to West Point. Chief speaker at the Democratic banquet was George H. Hodges, later governor of Kansas. Dwight's subject was "The Student in Politics."

Two themes ran through the speech of the 19-year-old future commander of the Allied armies in Europe—preparedness and helping the under-dog.

According to the Abilene News: "To say that he handled himself nicely would be putting it mildly. His speech was well received."

A few months later, Ike Eisenhower was in West Point, where no one is supposed to be either a Democrat or a Republican.

EISENHOWER MERRY-GO-ROUND

In high school, young Dwight was called "Ugly Ike." . . . One day a gang of schoolboys trooped into J. W. Howe's editorial offices to narrate how Ike fell off a horse. "The horse turned his head to knock off a fly and Ike just fell off," they said. . . . Dwight had come in walking on one leg and guarding his arm. He just grinned. Actually, the horse had stepped in a hole and fallen, but Ike never tried to explain it to the other boys. . . . The Eisenhower gang at school had odd traits.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by top users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

AN INNER SANCTUM MYSTERY

STARRING ARAB AND ANDY BLAKE WNU FEATURES

THE STORY THUS FAR: Lt. Andy Blake, Operations, was joined by his wife, Arab, who started to work for Ordnance in Washington. She secured a room at a house on "Q" street, run by Renee, whom Andy recognized as a girl he had known in Paris. Andy decided to search the Jones house, near-by, where he found a clipping service and other papers that showed a spy ring operation. He looked out the window and saw Arab coming toward the house. Breaking a window and calling out, he gave himself away, but believed he might save her. Jones started firing. After hiding from each other, Andy was saved when Arab put a gun in Jones' back.

CHAPTER VIII

"We've got to be sensible," I groaned. "You have to show up again at that picnic. What about Joey? Won't he be suspicious about where you've been?"

"He tried to teach me a lesson by wandering off with another girl. That worked out nicely. Because I'd arranged ahead of time for a taxi to wait near the picnic until I could slip away. So when Joey started to teach me a lesson, I zipped off to the taxi and had him rush me to as close as I dared go to the house."

"What system do you use on Washington taxi drivers? Ordinarily they don't wait five minutes for a Senator, let alone a CAF two."

"I paid him ten dollars ahead of time, Andy. And promised him ten more afterward."

"Forgive me for asking, but do we still have a joint bank account? Or is it an out-of-joint bank account?"

"It's... it's sort of going around in a split."

"Uh-huh. Well, let's get you back. There's no reason why I can't show up too. I had an invitation."

"Oh, swell, Andy! But not in those clothes."

"Gosh, I forgot I'm not in uniform. All my things are on the back ledge."

I finished dressing and we drove out Rock Creek Parkway while I gave her a round-by-round report, from the moment I walked angrily out of her room two nights earlier to the moment when I smashed the fat man's window.

When I completed the report, Arab said, "It's wonderful! You've found out ever so much! If you go on like this they'll be putting you in Counter-Intelligence."

"If I go on like this they'll be putting me in Arlington National Cemetery. And what I've found out doesn't add up to anything."

"Oh, but it does! We know that Plain Mr. Jones is an Axis agent. He wrote an isolationist news letter when he knew what the real score was. He clips military news, under the cover of a legitimate clipping bureau, and sends it to Germany. He has a hold over your Renee Fielding and makes her do some of the dirty work. He employs Joey Raeder in the clipping bureau, and Joey coaxes his girl friends to talk out of turn. I'll bet what Paula Thompson saw, the night she was kidnapped, was your fat man and Joey cooking up something. And she was afraid to phone the police from the house because, with Joey involved, she couldn't trust anybody in the house. What do you think of that?"

She sighed, "Now what do we do?"

"Me, I march up to Colonel Parker's desk tomorrow and tell all."

"Oh, Andy, that's awful stodgey of you. We were doing so nicely."

"Get this," I said. "The war is not billed as Arab versus Axis. Lots of other people feel they own a piece of it, too. If Plain Mr. Jones really does croon himself to sleep with the Horst Wessel March, a couple of people at the War Department are gonna want in on it."

"Sometimes," Arab said, smiling, "I really think I've fixed things so you've stopped taking the war for granted. And I didn't mean to keep everything to ourselves. It's just that I'm afraid somebody will tell me I've been a bright little girl but now run along and don't bother your little head about what happens next. And I want to help!"

"You can start helping right this minute."

"Honestly? How?"

"By coming clean with me."

"Andy, darling, you don't think I'm holding out anything?"

"I know it. I've told you everything and you haven't told me anything. What have you found out?"

"Almost nothing, Andy, really. The first night Joey and I had some hamburgers at a Hot Shoppe. Last night we went dancing some place on the road to Baltimore. Joey was curious about what I do in the War Department, but that was all."

"Where does he get his black market gas?"

She looked at me admiringly, and said, "I forgot about that. At a little tumbledown country garage, a few miles past the District line on a side road off the highway to Baltimore. I wrote down directions how to get there. I counted each time the gas pump went ping and there were twelve pings, so Joey got twelve gallons. But the garage man didn't take any tickets from Joey's A book. How did you know Joey got black-market gas?"

I checked his speedometer against the mileage the last time his oil was changed, and found he was getting five hundred miles a week on an A book. Now let's hear what you dug up in the Fielding house."

"What makes you think I was digging, Andy?"

"They fix up a picnic to see who will want to snoop through the house when it's deserted. They must have suspected somebody of wanting to snoop. And why? Because somebody had been snooping. Three guesses who."

"I didn't snoop much. Just a quick look around whenever I had a chance. I must have left things out of order in Joey's or Mrs. Fielding's room. But I really didn't learn much. I saw a letter in Mrs. Fielding's room. It was in French and mine is awfully rusty but I got the idea that she has some folks still living in Brittany."

"What does that prove?"

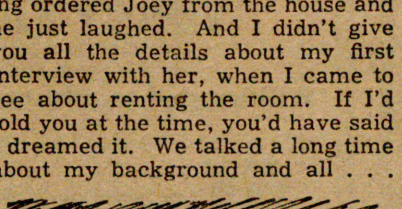

"It proves that Plain Mr. Jones can threaten her with something awful happening to her people if she doesn't obey orders."

I muttered, "I can't believe that she's mixed up in this racket."

"I know, darling. Men never do like to believe anything very bad about a pretty woman. But if she isn't on this racket, why does she let Joey stay?"

"To tend the furnace and so on."

"Piffle. Yesterday morning I overheard them scrapping. Mrs. Fielding ordered Joey from the house and he just laughed. And I didn't give you all the details about my first interview with her, when I came to see about renting the room. If I'd told you at the time, you'd have said I dreamed it. We talked a long time about my background and all..."

Her hands patted me as lovingly as if I were a new spring hat.

and she wasn't just making sure I'd fit in. She was making sure I had an important job at the War Department."

"You'll have to get more proof than that," I grumbled. "Did you find out anything else?"

"That's all."

"Cross your heart?"

"And hope to die, honest."

It was not much after ten by the time we parked the car and strolled to the scene of the picnic. Arab had been away only a little more than an hour. Long before this the picnic had broken up into couples. They were rambling all over the place; nobody could have kept track of each individual. Joey was still missing with the girl who was supposed to make Arab jealous. Arab's disappearance hadn't been noted; her return, with me, brought no comments.

We only stayed long enough to nail down a sort of alibi. It didn't have to be perfect. Plain Mr. Jones couldn't identify the prowlers who had sprung his booby trap. Any one of a dozen members of the picnic group might have been guilty, to say nothing of outsiders.

The first thing the next morning I briefed Colonel Parker on everything which had happened.

When I finished, he said, "Your wife certainly can stir things up, can't she! He thought for a moment, then added, "We could use another secretary. Maybe if we spread this story around Ordnance, they'd get scared and release her to us, hmmm?"

"I doubt it, sir."

"Um. Yes. Explosives don't bother those people, of course. Well, all this is out of my field. Let's take it somewhere else."

I told the story again, and spread my scraps of evidence out: the clipping about Corporal Bill Dwight's Armored Division, the torn newspaper column about the secret German radio station, and the paper with the scribbled lines reading:

Betty—I hope I can make it but we've been working late a lot of nights.

Genevieve—It's a wonder to me that trains don't get even more crowded these days, but maybe people are learning to stay home.

Nobody spoke for a minute. I retired to a corner and wished that the QMC would put out a camouflage outfit for junior officers assigned to The Pentagon. Finally a discussion started.

"Ve-ry interesting."

"What do you make of it?"

"Not much to go on, is there?"

"You can take it up bit by bit and it's quite legal."

"Yes, there's no law against clipping items from newspapers."

"Those two scraps of conversation could be anything. They don't mean a thing by themselves."

"What do you know about this man Jones?"

"Just that he runs a clipping bureau and writes a confidential news letter and used to say it wasn't our war."

"He can clip all the news he wants and be within his rights. The question is, is he sending it out of the country? That's the point to check."

"Right. Now about the missing girl. We can look into that. How long will it take, Major?"

"Hard to say, sir. We haven't much to go on. Just a name. A week. Two weeks."

"And about this Joey Raeder and Mrs. Fielding. It won't hurt to look up their history. Apparently he was in the Spanish fighting, and she came over from France within the past few years. The State Department may have some ideas. Well, Major..."

"My pigeon, sir?"

"Yes. And a delicate pigeon. Gentle handling, Lieutenant!"

That meant me. "Sir?" I squeaked.

"Lieutenant, you will refrain from any further independent investigation of this matter. If you observe anything of interest, report it to your commanding officer. That's all."

Later in the day I managed to get time for a beverage bar date with Arab. I told her that there was nothing to the spy angle, that an investigation would be made into the Paula Thompson case, and that I would be held responsible if she didn't limit her future war work to butchering carbon paper. I hinted that, if she didn't, the War Department would authorize the expenditure, on First Lieutenant Andrew Blake, of eight rounds of ammunition, ball, .30.

She was very docile about it, which should have warned me, but didn't.

The echoes of the war were louder, though. My theater was starting to crowd the cables and the shortwave channels. The Luftwaffe had given up trying to bomb Malta into sand, and the RAF was striking back. On the twenty-third they plastered Genoa and Turin. And, the next day, Montgomery's Eighth army began swinging punches from its shoelaces at the El Alamein line in Egypt.

Everyone had known that Montgomery was going to attack. The Germans knew it as well as anyone. But what they didn't know was when and on what sector and in what strength. The Afrika Korps sagged a little, counterattacked, and then for days the infantry and guns slugged it out. The sullen masses of Axis and British armor hung back, waiting for a breakthrough.

Something was cooking. You could feel the tension building up like steam pressure around The Pentagon. Nobody said anything, but there were signs. Quickened steps. Grimmer faces. The crackle of questions at War Room shows. Of course I thought things were cooking for North Africa, but that was just because it was my theater. Everybody, from Commanding General to the newest dogface, always thinks his theater most important. When I looked at the situation in other parts of the world I realized that we could be getting ready to suck the Axis almost anywhere.

And Arab turned into a one-woman task force.

The fireworks started because I found an apartment. One of my friends got his orders for overseas duty and I was the first to wish him luck in one breath and ask for his apartment in the next. I laid claim to it sight unseen, and we called up his landlord and closed the deal. The apartment would be mine in a week. I had lunch with Arab and told her. She didn't seem pleased.

"It means leaving the house on Q Street," she explained.

"You don't like the place, do you?"

"I hate it, but I'll be walking out on a job. A job that needs doing."

"Talk English, will you?"

"I am talking English, and you know what about! A clean-up job needs to be done there. You can smell Hitler's New Order all over the place. But you and the big brains here in The Pentagon have decided that there isn't any spy angle. And so nobody's allowed to fumigate the place."

We argued for fifteen minutes. I kept telling her that she was imagining things, and all I succeeded in doing was making her furious. Only one thing would have done any good: to tell her that the spy angle was being carefully investigated. And I was under orders not to tell her that.

Finally she rose from the table, and said, "We aren't settling anything, are we? Then let's not talk about it any more. Do we have some gas left in the car?"

"Half a tank."

THE CHRISTIAN'S PLACE IN THE LIFE OF HIS NATION (Temperance Lesson)

LESSON TEXT: Matt. 5:13-16, 43-48; I Peter 2:13-17.
GOLDEN TEXT: Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord.—Psalm 33:12.

Men make up nations. Human beings in a land like ours determine by their interests and attitudes the direction in which the entire social order moves. That in turn determines what kind of government we have.

If the totalitarian philosophies have colored our thinking and caused us to forget the importance of the individual in the life of our nation, let us turn at once to the right view.

Particularly important is the bearing which individual Christians can and should have on our national life. We have tended to draw back and fail to use the power and position which we have by God's grace.

Nowhere does that show more than in our failure (perhaps one should say shameful failure!) to bring Christian principles to bear upon the appalling liquor problem. This is temperance Sunday. Do not fail to stress that phase of Christian citizenship today.

How should Christians make their influence felt in the nation? By being what they ought to be and contributing to its life. Note these things in our lesson—the Christian gives:

I. Salt (Matt. 5:13).

We are the salt of the earth, and the pungent savor of Christ is to be evident in us as we touch life round about us—in the church, in the home, and in the nation.

True salt is antiseptic and purifying. It fights corruption wherever it is found. How effective the spiritually salty Christian and church should be against the corrupt political system, the liquor industry, vice and sin of all kinds. Have we lost our savor (v. 13)?

II. Light (Matt. 5:14-16).

A light is intended to give illumination to all round about it. It always does unless someone hides it under a cover, and then it becomes not only useless but dangerous.

A light lit by faith in Christ will shine to the very ends of the earth and, as a missionary once said, "The light that shines farthest shines brightest at home."

We are the light of the world, but if we cover our light we deny the very essence of our natures. Here is no thought of proud or selfish display. Light does not shout about itself, it just shines.

Who will deny that there is need of some real spiritual light in some of the dark corners of our national life? Who is to shine in such places but you and me, fellow-believer?

Then, too, let us not forget that God has sent us out to light other lights. We can best serve our nation, and best meet the challenge of liquor by turning men to Christ.

That doesn't mean that we should neglect other "good works," but it is well to keep "first things first."

III. Love (Matt. 5:43-48).

"Love your enemies" (v. 44); that is the standard which Christ has established for His followers. While the love one has for the brethren is without doubt a more intimate relationship than the love one may have for an enemy, we must not seek to minimize the real love we should have even for those who curse and revile us.

It is to move us so deeply that we not only treat them kindly, but also pray for them. Humanly speaking such a thing is impossible, but in Christ it is not only possible, it has actually been demonstrated in life.

It is so easy for Christians to speak with derision that borders on hatred about "the devil's gang," and to lose all love for the crowd that hangs around the tavern and the gambling house. Let us hate their sin, but may God help us to show that we really love them.

Love will do more to reach the world for Christ, and more to direct our national life into right channels than any other influence we can bring to bear. Let us do all we can, but let us do it all in love.

IV. Loyalty (I Pet. 2:13-17).

The loyalty of the Christian to right authority should be glad and free, not by necessity or by coercion.

The believer will see in all men the image of God and will honor them even though he may not be able to respect or approve their way of life. The dignity and position of the individual is always recognized by Christianity.

The brotherhood of true believers should call forth a peculiar love. We need to renew that brotherly affection between believers.

Fear of God, that is, the desire to do His blessed will, shows itself in the best kind of citizenship. Government would serve itself well if it encouraged every effort to win its citizens to Christ.

HOW TO AVOID AN ACCIDENT

1. Maintain Visibility. You must see a hazard to avoid it. Check windshield defroster-wiper and headlights.

2. Reduce speeds on ice and snow. Remember it takes three to 11 times normal distance to stop on snow or ice without tire chains.

3. Keep safe distance from vehicles ahead. When roads are slippery allow three to six car lengths for every 10 miles an hour.

4. Use tire chains for snow and ice. They reduce braking distances 40 to 50 per cent and provide needed "go" traction.

5. Practice "defensive" driving. Anticipate mistakes of pedestrians and other drivers.

6. Signal intentions as clearly as possible.

Since Pearl Harbor 9,500,000 cars have left the road for the junk pile, the police association estimates. New ones will not be available in volume for many months.

Stars in the Sky: Danny Kaye and Barbara Hutton are both fellow Civil Air Patrol members. Jon Hall and Frances Langford bought a plane for January delivery. They intend using it for touring hospitals to entertain vets. Paul Muni operates an air line. He advertises special rates for eloping couples going to Las Vegas, and for divorcing couples going to Reno. Lynn Bari is married to a test pilot, and is taking flying lessons. Jackie Coogan, recently discharged from the Air Forces is interested in a RCAF Plane Service. Reginald Denny perfected a tiny radio controlled target plane. Then, there are the stars who left Hollywood to be real heroes—and had experiences in the Air Forces that Top anything script writers can cook up! The following got their Air Force hardware (officer's insignia) the hard way: Capt. Clark Gable, Marine Transport Pilot, Lt. Ty Power, Col. Jimmy Stewart, Robert Taylor and many others. There are so many flying stars it adds up to a regular galaxy across the airways.

Ray Milland and the Count: Ray Milland lists his sports as flying and skiing in Sun Valley. Before the war, I vacationed at that famous mountain resort, and can remember seeing and hearing Ray Milland's enthusiasm for skiing. He'd make a Christiana turn, then "beam" at me and say "wonderful". I assume he's the same "eager-beaver" in a plane. By the high way, anyone who lines both skiing and flying can combine the two, in a very dramatic way. One of the most eye-catching sights at Sun Valley was Count Hagovitz-Reventlow skiing down Dollar Mountain wearing an enormous cape. Black with ermine lining, the cape was attached to his ankles and wrists. He tightened it around him for speed, then opened it to make quick graceful turns and stops. Imagine his surprise had he become airborne.

Wasp and Cub: Next week I'm having lunch with Beverly Frisbee. She's now Mandel Bros. Flying Lady in charge of selling Piper Cubs, the little planes that did a Big Job in the war. The last time I saw Beverly was about three years ago in a Chicago Chamber of Commerce Aviation Ground School Class. Bev was really gunning for a flying career then. She bicycled eleven miles each day to Paul-Waukee Airport where she worked as a mechanics helper and took instruction. In February 1944 she enlisted in the WASP (Women's Army Service Pilots) and logged 350 hours as a Flight Instructor. The pictures you saw of a WASP on the covers of newspaper pictorial sections and in magazines were many times of the very photogenic Beverly. And if you're downtown in Mandel's Department store in Chicago, stop in and see the Flying Lady. She'll be glad to give out with answers to your flying questions. More about Beverly and her Flying Career next week.

Air Hounds: Blaze, international air traveller of air priority fame, recently crashed head on with Fella, the Scottie that accompanied the late President Roosevelt on many flights. After the dog fight, Fella "landed" in the hospital, and Blaze, up to his old tricks, used a "number one priority to dog heaven."

Check Points: The remarkable facts and figures of the Army Transport Command stand as a monument to the men and women who served. ATC was the greatest airway system in the world stretched over 188,000 miles of scheduled routes. In one year alone it carried 2,298,000 passengers and transported 305,000 sick and wounded. In a single month, ATC transported 420,000,000 letters. One of the most awe-inspiring ATC operations was cargo hauling over the hump between India and China, 910 members of crews and 180 passengers lost their lives. But, through six routes ranging from 120,000 to 20,000 feet in altitude over peaks and thru storms and gorges, 776,532 tons of war material were flown from China. The hump kept the Chinese in the war and nailed down thirty Japanese divisions in China.

Folks and Buildings Going Up at Chicago Hammond Airport, Chas. Davis and James Osborne made first solos in Cubs. Owner Dow will move into the new Flight Office by January 1st and reports that ground has been broken for twenty new T hangers. Flying into Prosperi Field last Saturday I was met by Lee Gunderson. He's just returned from Eagle Pass, Texas where he was an Army Flying Instructor for three and one half years. At Prosperi, Bob Thebert and Bobby Jr. were readying a Stinson Voyager for a flight to Municipal Airport to attend a Stinson Sales meeting.

Thank Offering Service

Mrs. M. Albrecht, a former missionary to India whose husband is still serving there, spoke before the Women's Guild of St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church Thursday evening at the annual Thank offering service held in the sanctuary.

In speaking of the vast amount of money needed to carry on missionary work Mrs. Albrecht said, "When we see our funds running low, we feel we can always depend on the women back home to come to our aid through their generous contributions." She explained that missionary work in India was divided into three forms, Evangelistic, Medical and Educational, and told interesting examples of each.

In the first case her story dealt with the conversion of a native and his efforts and power to enlighten other natives. Medical work is especially difficult among these people of more than 2,000 castes and where adequate help is almost unobtainable. Mrs. Albrecht said, in speaking of the Educational work, "One of the great difficulties is to get the permission to open Christian schools in this land where 88 percent of the people are illiterate. In some cases where one member of a family is enrolled in the Christian school, he is no longer considered living and the parents observe the death feast."

In closing, Mrs. Albrecht demonstrated how the Indian saree is worn and showed a number of pieces of clothing and jewelry worn by various castes.

Mrs. Alvin Harnack and Mrs. Harold Ebert of the Thank Offering department led the service. Guild officers, Mrs. Glenn Folkers, Mrs. Stanley Johnson, Mrs. Roy Koerner and Mrs. Wallace Weichbrodt conducted the ceremony of Ingathering. There was special music by a ladies choir with Mrs.

Erich Bizer at the organ.

Election of officers was held at the afternoon meeting of the Guild. Mrs. Edw. Vollrath is the new president, succeeding Mrs. Genn Folkers. Mrs. Albert Krusemark succeeds Mrs. Alvin Harnack as treasurer. Mrs. Stanley Johnson and Mrs. Roy Koerner, vice-president and secretary respectively, will hold office for another year. The women voted to give $50.00 to Missions and $50.00 to World Service. Mrs. Vollrath led devotions and a playlet was presented by Mrs. Fred Klepper, Mrs. Harold Scheer, Mrs. Walter Harnack, Mrs. Vollrath and Mrs. A. Schmierer. 210 suppers were served following the meeting.

Cpl. Glenn Nieland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nieland, returned home Saturday after being honorably discharged with 92 points. He was mustered out at Ft. Sheridan. Nieland served in the European theatre of operations and wears four battle stars on his ETO ribbon, American Theatre and Victory ribbons and the good conduct badge. He served in the armed forces almost four years.

The Frankfort Woman's club will meet in the Village hall, Friday, Dec. 14. Mrs. Henry Breidert is program chairman. A potluck dinner will be served at 3:30 p.m. A Christmas party will be featured.

The Green Garden WSCS will have a Christmas party and potluck luncheon at noon, Wed. Dec. 12.

The Green Garden Home Bureau will meet Dec. 14 in the home of Mrs. Edwin Dralle.

The Green Garden "F" Men will meet in the Town Hall Dec. 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lambrecht and Mrs. Gertrude Eichmiller attended the wedding of the latter's niece, Miss Evelyn Gatz, and Woodruff Goodyear, at Gary, Ind. Sunday afternoon. Mr. Lambrecht was soloist.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hohenstein was baptized Sunday morning at St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church with the pastor, Rev. Erich Bizer, officiating. The name given was Christ Walter. Sponsors were Christ Hohenstein and Walter Gorgenzen.

The following officers were installed at the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service in the Frankfort Methodist church yesterday following a potluck luncheon and gift exchange: Mrs. Jake Hostert, president, Mrs. Amanda Mark, vice president, Mrs. Raymond Hiroshige and Mrs. Stanley Warning, secretaries, Mrs. Blanche Mitchell, treasurer; Mrs. Ray Warning, secretary of church activities, Mrs. Lillie Herschbach; missions and education; Mrs. Clarence Lehnert, publications and supplies, Mrs. Frank Heisner, Youth work; Mrs. Otto Heisner, children's work and Mrs. John Reed, spiritual life.

The regular monthly business and social meeting of the Youth Fellowship was held at the Methodist church Thursday evening.

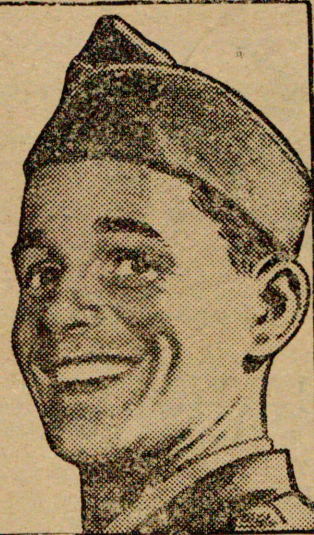

Mrs. Alfred Krapf was hostess to the Always Faithful class of the Green Garden Methodist church in her home Tuesday.

Members of the Eisenbrandt family attended funeral services in Chicago Sunday for Frank Goodman, a nephew.

Mrs. Wendell Morrison entertained the Young Women's Circle of the Green Garden Methodist church at her home Tuesday.

"Me... I'm staying in the Army!"

THERE ARE PLENTY OF REASONS...
AND HERE THEY ARE!"

1 "First, I keep my present grade. That means a lot.

2 "By reenlisting for 3 years I can pick my own branch of service in the Air, Ground or Service Forces, and can go to any overseas theater I wish.

3 "I get my mustering-out pay, even though I'm reenlisting. Also, I get $50 a year reenlistment bonus for each year I've been in the Army. My dependents receive family allowances for the full term of my enlistment. And I'll be eligible for GI Bill of Rights benefits when I get out of the Army.

4 "My food, clothes, quarters, medical and dental care are all supplied to me. And I can learn any of 200 skills or trades in the Army schools.

5 "All of us who are reenlisting are going to have from 30 to 90 days' furlough at home with full pay and our travel paid both ways. And we'll have 30 days' furlough every year with pay.

6 "Any time after 20 years I can retire at half pay increasing year by year to three-quarters retirement pay after 30 years of service. And the time I've already served in active military or naval service counts toward my retirement time. Added up—reenlistment seems pretty sound to me!"

JANUARY 31, 1946

AN IMPORTANT DATE
FOR MEN IN THE ARMY

MEN now in Army who reenlist before February 1 will be reenlisted in present grade. Men honorably discharged can reenlist within 20 days after discharge in grade held at time of discharge, provided they reenlist before February 1, 1946.

You may enlist AT ANY TIME for 1½, 2 or 3 year periods. (One-year enlistments for men now in the Army with at least 6 months of service.)

PAY PER MONTH— ENLISTED MEN

In Addition to Food, Lodging,
Clothes and Medical Care

(a) — Plus 20% Increase for Service Overseas. (b) — Plus 50% if Member of Flying Crews, Parachutist, etc. (c) — Plus 5% Increase in Pay for Each 3 Years of Service.

NEW State Law every motorist must know

IN EFFECT JANUARY 1, 1946

Do You Know...

- The new Safety Responsibility Law affects every motorist in the State of Illinois?
- After January 1, every motorist must qualify under the new law or risk his right to drive?

- Reckless and irresponsible motorists can lose their licenses and registration plates forever?
- Careful, responsible motorists will have new protection against financial losses from accidents?
- You must report an accident even if you weren't to blame?
- Ignorance of the new law will not exempt you from its penalties?

If you don't know the answers get complete facts about this new law from us.

by Mrs. S. S. Knox

Mrs. John Hedlund of 143rd St., and 108th Ave., was a patient in Silver Cross hospital the last week of November.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Ekberg have remodeled the building back of the property formerly owned by the Philip Steffen Jr., family, before fire destroyed their home and have moved in.

Harold Eugene Beckett from Shelbyville, Illinois has returned to his home after spending a few days with his cousin, Mrs. Ruby Creer of Orland and his uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Stockdale of Palos Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Creer, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Klein spent Sunday in the Stockdale home.

Pfc. Fred Steockdale who has been over seas 38 months expects to be home for Christmas. He is now stationed in Japan.

The Adolph Zerbs family have moved in the Davidson, Postoffice Bldg., flat, which the Ekbergs had occupied. Mr. and Mrs. Gust Zerbs will retain the flat in the former Zerbs Bldg., now owned by George Yunker.

The Orland Park American Legion Post No. 526 held their regular meeting in the Legion hall, Tuesday evening, Nov. 27. Refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were served after the business meeting.

The next regular meeting will be Dec. 11, at 8 p. m. in the Legion hall and will be an old fashioned stag party. Mr. Fred Busby, former Congressman from the Third District and one of the authors of the GI Bill of Rights, will be the speaker. Refreshments will be served. All members and Servicemen of World War II, in the community are invited to attend.

Several students of Orland Park school are home due to illness. They are: Jeane and Lois Kramer, Ray Estand, Dodel Myrick and Bobby Town.

The regular meeting of the Orland Park PTA will be held in the school library, Thursday evening, Dec. 13 at 8 p. m. Mrs. Karl Ekberg will have charge of the program in keeping with Christmas. A duet by Audrey and Donna Cowan, Christmas songs by a group of young girls, games and community singing. Refreshments will be served by the hostess committee.

Members are to bring their gifts, wrapped for Christmas, which are to be given to the boys at the 40 and 8 convalescent center. Gifts may range from cigarettes, tobacco, candy, books to jigsaw puzzles. Mrs. Ekberg will take charge of the gifts and see that they are delivered to the camp by Christmas.

The Christmas meeting of the Red Cross Sewing group will be at the home of Mrs. Harry Anderson, 108 Av., Friday, December 14 at 10:30 a. m. for an all day session. Each worker is to bring a friend and sandwich, and the hostess will serve coffee at noon.

4H Cloverettes

A meeting was held in the home of Marilyn Pihl, December 2 and 2 o'clock. We worked on our scrap books for the servicemen and pins were given to the members. Games were played and refreshments were served by Mrs. Pihl.

—Elsie Elisses

THE postwar Jeep, just unveiled to the public by Willys-Overland Motors, combines the four basic functions of tractor, light truck, mobile power unit and passenger conveyance. Photo at top shows the new Jeep pulling a spring tooth cultivator. Other farm applications include disking, mowing, raking, threshing, baling, shelling and grinding corn, operating manure spreader, filling silo, and sawing wood. Picture at bottom shows the new Jeep performing one of its less arduous tasks: taking the family on a picnic.

The Congressional Record

By Congressman Everett M. Dirksen
16th Ill. District

THE PALESTINE PROBLEM

On at least two occasions in the last two years, the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House reported a resolution re-affirming the interest of the United States in Palestine as a homeland for the Jews. The first time an effort was made to get this measure before the Congress for action, it was tabled at the instance of certain officials in government who were afraid it might embarrass our relations with Britain during the African campaign. The second time, this effort was made, still another department of government appeared before a Committee of the Congress and suggested postponement for fear that other difficulties might result. Thus no action was taken. Recently however, Mr. Earl G. Harrison, one time Commissioner of Immigration who was appointed by the President as the U. S. representative on an Inter-governmental Refugee Commission reported to the President that persecuted Jews in Austria and Germany who could not be returned to their countries of birth and residence should be evacuated to Palestine if they so desired and that they should be sent there immediately. Thus the Palestine problem comes to the fore and should have early action.

A Bit of History

On November 2, 1917, before World War 1 was over, Lord Balfour of Great Britain who spoke in behalf of the British War Ministry issued what has come to be known as the Balfour Declaration. It was issued as a mark of appreciation for the services rendered by Jews to Britain in that war and very especially the chemical research work which was done by Dr. Chaim Weitzmann. That Declaration expressed sympathy for the idea of establishing a Jewish homeland in Palestine. But it went further. It stated that Britain would use her best endeavors to facilitate that objective. There was of course the reservation that non-Jewish communities in Palestine would not be prejudiced in their civil and religious rights. When the first World War ended, a provision was therefore included in the League of Nations mandate whereby Palestine was placed in the custody of Britain to the effect that this homeland objective should be carried out. President Wilson gave his sanction and the 67th Congress passed a resolution to the same effect.

The Development of Palestine Begins

Jews all over the world saw in this action, the fruition of their age-old hope for a homeland and at once undertook to demonstrate to the world that the soil and resources of Palestine could be developed. Hundreds of millions of dollars of private funds went into the work. Farm colonies and cooperatives were established. There are nearly 250 such groups now. Refugees came from all over the world. The production of rye, wheat, barley, dairy products, canned vegetables, oranges, lemons and grape fruit grew to an astonishing degree and the quality was excellent. Small industries were established. In the space of little more than 30 years, the modern city of Tel Aviv with a population of 150,000 grew from nothing but a sand dune to one of the finest cities to be found anywhere. A very substantial fishing industry was established. Where there were but comparatively few Jews in Palestine, the number has now grown to 500,000 compared to 1,100,000 Arabs. But difficulties began.

THE CHAMBERLAIN WHITE PAPER

The Arabs demurred at the idea of admitting more Jews to Palestine and in response to their protest, a so called White Paper was issued by Britain in 1939 when Chamberlain was the Prime Minister. It said in effect that after 5 years, there should be no more Jews admitted to Palestine and that during the 5 year period, the number to be admitted should not exceed 75,000. For practical purposes, that virtually put an end to immigration of Jews to Palestine and there the matter rests. Now comes Mr. Harrison, urging that many more be admitted at once. And that places the problem before the world and especially before Great Britain.

SOME PERSONAL COMMENT

The author of the FRONT spent some time in Palestine in March and April of 1945. He visited with Jewish, Arab and British leaders to get a first hand story of the problem. He motored over the entire land and inspected its industry and agriculture. He is quite familiar with the historical claims which have been advanced by all sides in the present controversy. There are certain well established facts which cannot be denied. The first is that Jewish farmers have done an astonishing job in building up the soil and increasing agricultural production. The second is that countless small industries have been established to make this small country as self sustaining as possible. The third is that with such intensive cultivation, Palestine can support many additional people and would provide safe haven for thousands of stateless refugee Jews in Europe. The fourth is that as Jewish enterprise has brought new and better farm methods to Palestine, the Arabs have been greatly benefited.

The fifth is that Palestine is capable of great industrial development. One such is the potash industry which derives a number of valuable salts and minerals from the historic Dead Sea. The function of humankind is to employ its talent, labor and ingenuity to enrich the place where ever it may dwell and this the Jews in Palestine have done in a remarkable degree. Palestine should be opened to further immigration and the covenant which was made in 1917 should be kept. This action should be taken now when the need is so great.

WHEN TO BUY A FAMILY MEMORIAL

The best answer is now... while you can choose with utmost care the symbol which is to represent your name. Now, too, because so many things needed in war are off the market, and there's more money to invest in things that are truly of the family.
